

4.10 Deleted data from sources

Pascal retrieves regularly data from many different sources. We do not delete this data as users might have resolved some of these deleted entries and based their assessment upon those entries. From now on, we also monitor data which has been removed from WorldCheck. When removed data has been resolved in cases, the data will get a deleted tag in the 'updated at' row as shown in the image below.

This way the included or excluded data will still be present as this has been part of the assessment of the case. While it is clear that those specific hits are outdated and not present anymore in the original source.

Removed data that has not been resolved yet in existing cases, will not be visible anymore. Cases that are created will no longer find this removed data, as it is not present in the original source anymore.
